

CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITY REPORT 2022

RAYMOND JAMES

A letter from our chair and chief executive officer

As a business, Raymond James has grown from a foundational idea, that the management of personal wealth should be guided by clients' personal needs and goals. Concurrently, as a firm, Raymond James has grown from foundational ideals: that the client comes first, that long-term thinking is essential, that integrity matters, and that we value independence. Together, we see them as a philosophy centered on people and their well-being.

Amid rapid changes in the world and business environment, these rock-steady principles have remained our strength and guide. It is in the light of these ideas – and ideals – that we approach opportunities pertaining to governance, sustainability, community and the workplace experiences of advisors and associates. This report is a window into that process. It also creates an opportunity to provide updates on key developments throughout our firm.

As a preview of those updates, I am proud to note that we have completed an important change to the committee structure of our board of directors, creating the Corporate Governance and ESG Committee and the Compensation and Talent Committee. This structure will enhance the board's oversight of the company's strategies, policies and programs with respect to environmental, social and governance (ESG) matters.

In addition to enhancements at the board level, we created an ESG committee comprising a cross-functional group of senior leaders to provide management-level oversight of the ESG program. In our continued investment towards sustainability and ESG, we've established the Enterprise Sustainability Office, a group led by the Chief Administrative Officer of Finance and Sustainability, which enabled team members leading existing programs to provide additional focus and dedication to efforts such as community impact, diversity, equity and inclusion, and sustainable investing.

Additionally, we continued to expand on our reporting efforts. Those efforts included publishing our second Corporate Responsibility Report in April 2022 and disclosing our Employment Information Report (also known as the EEO-1) for the first time.

I am also proud to note that we are delivering as promised on our 2020 pledge to the Black community, commitments we made concerning talent development, recruitment and community engagement. These efforts, supported by initiatives led by our business units, continue to shape our community, campus and professional network engagements.

Throughout the world, 2022 was a year of challenges. Despite them, we continued to make progress. I believe this reflects the dedication of our innovative workforce and the wisdom of a culture that respects its history. We know we are not only the stewards of our guiding principles but also its beneficiaries. That's long-term thinking at work. That's Raymond James.

Chair and Chief Executive Officer
Raymond James Financial

Our principles-guided approach to ESG

Since the founding of Raymond James in 1962, our core values have guided our business, leading us to do what's right for clients, advisors, associates and our communities.

We put clients first.

We act with integrity.

We think long term.

We value independence.

These principles, the pillars of our firm culture and governance philosophy, are represented in everything we do. As such, they have guided us in all environmental, social and governance (ESG) opportunities. The role of ESG at Raymond James is multifaceted, operating in balance within the firm's full array of offerings.

In 2022, we took steps to grow, enhance and formalize our ESG program and reporting. As part of these efforts, we created:

- The Corporate Governance and ESG Committee of the board of directors to enhance board oversight of ESG programs
- An ESG committee of senior leaders to provide management-level oversight (see p. 58 for more details on the committee's responsibilities)
- The Enterprise Sustainability Office, an office led by the Chief Administrative Officer of Finance and Sustainability, to coordinate ESG programing across the firm
- The Head of Sustainable Investing role to lead efforts within the Private Client Group

Other accomplishments included:

- Worked with an outside expert to develop an ESG program strategy and to hold education sessions with senior leaders across the organization
- Expanded disclosure efforts to include an initial Task Force on Climate-Related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) report (p. 55), which included Scope 1 and Scope 2 greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions data for 2021
- Worked with a third-party auditor to receive limited assurance on Scope 1 and Scope 2 GHG emissions data for 2021
- Implemented enhanced structure and discipline into the ESG reporting and disclosure process

The Raymond James Supplier Diversity Program has an ongoing commitment to identifying business opportunities to work with a diverse representation of suppliers.

Through our program, overall diversity spending increased from $27.5 million in fiscal year 2021 to $38.8 million in fiscal year 2022. Part of the increase can be contributed to our focus this year to appropriately capture Tier 2 spend, which is the amount spent by our suppliers to their diverse suppliers on goods and services that impact the goods and services provided to our firm. This effort has led to an additional $1.5 million of diversity spending bringing our overall total to $38.8 million.

Recognized diverse supplier groups include businesses that are at least 51% owned, controlled and operated by one or more members of a diverse group:

- Minority-owned
- Women-owned
- Veteran-owned
- Service-disabled veteran-owned
- LGBTQ+-owned
- Disabled-owned
- Disadvantaged businesses
- Small, disadvantaged businesses

In 2022, we began a notable partnership with EnPointe, an Asian-American woman-owned business, to source standard technology hardware and accessories for the firm.

Our guiding imperatives

Create opportunities for clients to take a measured approach to risk and return with impact-focused investment products

Provide direct financing to organizations and municipalities interested in supporting sustainable business and community development

Reduce the environmental impact of our business processes and influence the value chain through proactive engagement with suppliers and partners

Sustainable investing

To empower our advisors and their clients, we offer a growing number of sustainable and values-based investments to suit different wealth strategies and support a wide variety of personal financial plans, risk tolerances and impact goals.

For those who choose to invest this way, our sustainable investing platform comprises a variety of offerings across our asset management, global wealth solutions and capital markets businesses. We continue to focus on enhancing transparency and deepening analysis of these offerings, making it easier for clients to ensure their investment execution matches their impact intention.

DEFINING SUSTAINABLE INVESTING

Sustainable investing is an approach in which environmental, social and corporate governance (ESG) criteria are considered in making investment decisions, often with the goal of generating both long-term financial returns and positive societal impact.

A range of sustainability issues can be considered in assessing a company's potential for long-term performance, such as how companies manage natural resources and supply chains, treat their customers and associates, and oversee business risks.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Different sustainable investing approaches align with the different client motivations for investing this way, resulting in many options for implementing sustainable strategies into client portfolios. These approaches are not mutually exclusive so advisors and their clients can continue to work to find the right mix of methodologies to complement each client's specific risk tolerance and goals.

Example approaches may include:

- ESG AWARE: "MINIMIZING RISK"
 Select material ESG risk factors may be considered in the investment analysis.
- EXCLUSION: "AVOIDING EXPOSURE"
 Companies or sectors that do not align with personal values are excluded from consideration.
- ESG INTEGRATION: "SEEKING BALANCE"
 ESG principles are blended with other fundamental and technical insights to develop a well-rounded perspective on a company's prospects in assessing risk and return in the near and long term.
- ESG FOCUSED: "CONSCIOUSLY ENGAGED"
 One or more ESG factors are used as a main or significant consideration in selecting investments or in engagement efforts with companies.
- IMPACT: "PRIORITIZING IMPACT"
 This strategy aims to intentionally generate measurable social or environmental outcomes as well as a financial return, across broad-based goals or narrow themes.

ADVISOR-GUIDED APPROACH

SUSTAINABLE INVESTING ADVISORY COUNCIL

Our Sustainable Investing Advisory Council (SIAC), launched in 2018, comprises 15 advisors who have demonstrated leadership in making sustainable investing a meaningful part of their practices. Their experiences enable them to provide feedback on firm initiatives and lead peer-to-peer education efforts in this space.

2022 developments

In 2022, the SIAC supported the exploration of select alternative, structured and private investments, as well as the ongoing development of managed account offerings for future releases.

The council was instrumental in vetting newly available impact reporting technologies for usability and client experience. They also helped expand advisor awareness of sustainable investing offerings specifically through establishing a consistent presence at industry and internal conferences.

In their words

“My clients largely helped drive my focus on sustainable investments. Living in Guam, we are all impacted by the changing climate, and many of my clients wanted to know how they could do more to protect our community and to reflect their concerns in their portfolios.”

– Dan Roland, Asia Pacific Group of Raymond James, Maite, Guam

“I always want to make sure my clients know about all the options available to them. Sustainable investing offers me an opportunity to help clients understand what their investments can do. Whenever I provide concrete examples with impact reporting, clients are amazed to see what their dollars are actually doing.”

– Karen Coyne, Clarity Planning, Hagerstown, Maryland

“I care deeply about the world around me, and constantly find myself asking ‘What can we do to be better for the earth?’ I realized that one of the things I could do is offer environmentally focused, sustainable investing options to my clients. I’ve experienced an extremely positive response.”

– Kim Mondonedo, The Mendall Financial Group, Augusta, Maine

SHARING EXPERTISE

SIAC members led sessions on sustainable investing at the 2022 Elevate Conference, Fall and Summer Development Conferences, Black Financial Advisors Network Conference and Women’s Symposium. These events helped hundreds of advisors navigate topics, including:

- Connecting values-based investing with philanthropy
- Differentiating your practice with sustainable investing
- Acquiring ESG certifications
- Using impact reporting technology

Discovery, fact finding and analysis

Our Asset Management Services manager research and due diligence teams review prospective and current platform portfolio managers with ESG integration strategies and funds to evaluate whether they:

- Have a process for incorporating ESG factors into their financial analysis
- Have access to reliable third-party ESG data and/or create a proprietary ESG scoring framework
- Employ investment staff specifically dedicated to ESG research or stewardship
- Engage with companies through stewardship
- Supply sufficient data to secure a Morningstar Sustainability Rating
- Provide annual qualitative and quantitative reporting summarizing holdings' impact on ESG issues

SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS IN THE UK

Raymond James Investment Services (RJIS) and Charles Stanley provide advisors with tools for values-based screening and portfolio construction, as well as a client questionnaire for ESG and values-based screens. Charles Stanley launched four new responsible investing models in April 2022 and hired a dedicated ESG equity research analyst to support advisors and their clients.

EXPANDING RESOURCES AND OFFERINGS

ASSET MANAGEMENT SERVICES

The Raymond James Freedom ESG model portfolios use ESG mutual funds across a variety of asset classes to expose investors to an allocation that incorporates ESG objectives.

PROPERTY SETTING

Serving a need, guided by culture

The Chief Seattle Project in Seattle, Washington, is a culture-affirming affordable housing project serving low-income and unhoused indigenous residents. It opened in 2022.

ʔálʔal, the name of a residential community that opened its doors in Seattle, Washington, in 2022, means “home” in the Lushootseed language. It’s a word that encompasses not only the purpose of the 80-unit affordable housing community, but also the heritage – and the people – it was built to promote and protect.

The community, a project of the Chief Seattle Club nonprofit organization, was designed by indigenous architects. It features masonry of layered Native American designs and interiors with artwork from Native artists.

Raymond James Affordable Housing Investments was proud to play a role in its creation, raising nearly $19 million of equity through the syndication of low-income housing tax credits.

The resulting community provides an underserved population a new place to thrive – qualified residents earn between 30% and 50% of the area’s median income and five units are reserved for veterans who were previously homeless. Additionally, the community includes a cafe serving food from Native-owned businesses and coffee roasters, an art gallery, a clinic and a pharmacy. “Some of our Chief Seattle Club members have not had a permanent place to call home for more than a decade,” executive director Derrick Belgarde said in a release following its opening. “ʔálʔal, is their first real home in a long time. It’s a place to live and practice their culture, to sing and bead, and gather together with other Native people.”

RAYMOND JAMES BANK

Financing health equity

In her role as a chief medical officer of a major health insurer, Dr. Traci Thompson, M.D., MBA, is responsible for clinical oversight of her company's Medicaid and long-term care health plans throughout Florida.

In her other office, she's Dr. Traci, founder of Dr. Traci's House. She's working to improve access to healthcare in the Tampa Bay area, starting with the under-resourced East Tampa and Ybor City neighborhoods. In addition to providing a broad range of behavioral, pediatric and adult healthcare services, Dr. Traci's House will also provide internships and early childhood education.

Through a relationship with the Tampa Bay Black Business Investment Corporation, Raymond James Bank connected with Dr. Traci and provided a $300,000 revolving line of credit to refinance existing indebtedness that had been used to transform her facility into a medical office, purchase medical equipment and to provide working capital.

Raymond James is proud to support Dr. Traci as she pursues her goal of improving health equity and breaking down barriers to opportunity in neighborhoods with the greatest socioeconomic challenges.

CLIMATE AND SOCIAL FINANCE

By working with organizations and municipalities to guide their financial management, provide financing or enhance their efforts through charitable giving, we use our multidisciplinary expertise to make our communities more sustainable places.

HELPING THRIVING BLACK-OWNED BUSINESSES SECURE CAPITAL

Through an agreement with the Tampa Bay Black Business Investment Corporation, Raymond James Bank receives referrals for opportunities outside the scope of what the organization can finance. In 2022, this relationship empowered several black-owned entrepreneurial ventures, such as black- and woman-owned Genesis Capital Group, LLC. Raymond James Bank provided a $750,000 revolving line of credit to help Genesis Capital in their mission to finance affordable single-family housing in partnership with the city of Tampa.

EQUITABLE LENDING

The Tampa Bay Black Business Investment Corporation is a nonprofit organization founded in 1987 to provide loans to businesses owned and operated by Black entrepreneurs, a historically underserved market segment in the community. Since then, it has expanded to serve entrepreneurs in all underrepresented and undercapitalized communities.

FINANCING K-12 PUBLIC EDUCATION

Raymond James Public Finance has a long history of serving public school districts and has consistently been one of the top underwriters in the country supporting public education initiatives.

We ranked fourth in the K-12 education space and served as the lead underwriter on over $5.2 billion in new issue municipal bonds for school districts in the 2022 fiscal year.

Raymond James Bank has also been an active lender to school districts and continues to maintain a school district loan portfolio. Recently, we supported East Brunswick Public Schools in New Jersey with a term loan of over $41 million to refinance existing debt and support their comprehensive community school, serving children in kindergarten through 12th grade.

SUPPORTING INFRASTRUCTURE INNOVATIONS

Raymond James Investment Banking maintains deep relationships within infrastructure industries, some of which empower sustainable solutions.

Sustainable branches

We continue to enhance our sustainable design and construction guidelines for new and renovated branch offices that integrate energy-saving principles as well as sustainable furnishings and materials. These guidelines are consulted when evaluating appliances, lighting and materials for life span, reusability, recyclability and manufacturing sustainability.

REDUCING IMPACT ACROSS OUR VALUE CHAIN

SUPPLIER SUSTAINABILITY

We seek to make sustainable purchasing decisions throughout our value chain.

Through our relationship with Hewlett Packard, we use EPEAT-certified office technology, with ECO declarations available for each device.

For fiscal years 2021 and 2022, we purchased over 3,400 EPEAT Gold-rated devices and over 6,600 EPEAT Gold-rated devices, respectively.

The EPEAT label is an internationally recognized electronics environmental assessment tool created to assist bulk purchasers of electronic devices in making environmentally minded procurement decisions.

ASSOCIATE ENGAGEMENT AND EDUCATION

Associates are essential advocates and decision-makers as we pursue greater sustainability.

ENVIRONMENTAL OVERSIGHT

Two associate advisory groups help guide the firm's internal sustainability efforts:

Art inspires our greatest adventures and connects us to one another and our history. It makes our cities places we want to be, to celebrate and to make better. It differentiates the good places to live from the truly great ones.”

In order to maintain corporate governance best practices and respond to new regulatory requirements, the board reviews its corporate governance practices and the charters for its standing committees at least annually. The board is aware of shareholders’ evolving interest in ESG concerns and believes that each of its committees has a role to play in governance of the firm’s ESG-related responsibilities and commitments. In December 2021, the board determined to restructure its committees to better address the evolving needs of the company and the evolving regulatory governance landscape.

As a part of this restructuring, the board of directors split the Corporate Governance, Nominating and Compensation Committee into two committees: the Corporate Governance and ESG Committee and the Compensation and Talent Committee.

Compensation governance

We have created systems to help us use compensation fairly and in alignment with our values and business objectives.

PAY EQUITY

We utilize a robust statistical analysis that is performed annually by a third-party consulting firm to review associate pay within similarly situated roles. The analysis focuses on identifying disparities that may need to be addressed.

We recognize that compensation adjustments are only one part of the solution. In order to further minimize risk, we also seek to embed pay equity actions in our recruiting processes, aware that asking about previous pay can perpetuate disparities. We provide training for hiring managers and recruiters to reinforce the continued need to protect compensation confidentiality at hire.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

We compete for talent with other large financial services firms throughout the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom and Europe, and our ability to sustain or improve our position in this highly competitive environment depends substantially on our ability to continue to attract and retain the most qualified employees. We thus strive to design compensation programs that enable us to attract, motivate and retain high-quality executive officers and ensure that their individual interests are aligned with those of our shareholders. Our pay-for-performance goal is to reward executive officers for the achievement of near-term and long-term strategic and operational goals while at the same time avoiding excessive risk-taking. We therefore structure our incentive awards to include vesting, deferred payment, and cancellation and clawback provisions that protect the company.

Our executive compensation program emphasizes discretionary variable annual performance compensation and long-term incentive compensation, a portion of which will be received by the executive only upon our attainment of specific financial targets. We award annual grants to reward achievement of the company's financial and strategic objectives. In addition, a portion of long-term incentive compensation serves shareholders' interests by conditioning vesting upon future performance that delivers on the company's long-term business strategy. We believe that delivering equity aligns employees' interests with those of shareholders and helps motivate executives to achieve financial and strategic goals within the bounds of the company's risk tolerance levels.

EQUITY-BASED COMPENSATION

We deliver a substantial portion of incentive compensation in the form of equity awards – generally RSUs – a portion of which will vest based on future performance of the company. We believe that delivering equity aligns employee interests with those of shareholders and helps motivate executives to achieve financial and strategic goals within the bounds of the company's risk tolerance levels. These awards are also subject to cancellation and clawback over a multi-year period.

The annual bonus for our CEO is delivered 50% in cash and 50% in the form of RSUs. 60% of the portion paid in RSUs will vest on the third anniversary of the grant only if the company attains certain defined average Adjusted ROE levels ("performance RSUs" or "PRSUs"). Commencing with the 2021 grants, the portion of PRSUs that vests will be further subject to modification (increase or decrease) based on the company's rTSR. The remaining 40% of the portion paid in RSUs will vest on the third anniversary of grant. Where the annual bonus of one of our other executive officers (including NEOs) exceeds $275,000, a variable portion of the amount over $250,000 is similarly delivered in RSUs. The proportion of bonus delivered in RSUs increases with the size of the bonus.

Of the RSUs delivered to such other executive officers, 50% are performance RSUs that will vest on the third anniversary of the grant only if the company attains certain defined average Adjusted ROE levels. The three-year average Adjusted ROE is calculated by adding Adjusted ROE for each of the years included in the applicable vesting period and dividing by three. Commencing with the 2021 awards, the amount vesting is further subject to modification (increases or decreases) based on the company's rTSR. The remaining 50% of these RSUs vest on the third anniversary of grant.

Risk management

Our risk management efforts have oversight by our board of directors and extend through every level of the firm, consistent with our guiding principles of integrity, long-term thinking and conservative management. We reinforce this responsibility and create transparency and accountability through a multilayered risk management process that utilizes a “three lines of defense” model.

THREE LINES OF RISK MANAGEMENT MODEL

The principal risks related to our business activities are market, credit, liquidity, operational, model and compliance. Our three-line approach to risk management creates appropriate redundancy and mutual accountability.

First line

Business units

Our first line, which includes all of our businesses, owns its risks and is responsible for helping to identify, escalate and mitigate risks arising from its day-to-day activities.

Second line

Compliance and risk management departments

Our second line supports and provides guidance and oversight to client-facing businesses in identifying and mitigating risk. This line also tests and monitors the effectiveness of controls, escalates risks and reports on these risks.

Third line

Internal Audit

The third line, Internal Audit, independently reviews activities conducted by the previous lines of risk management to assess their management and mitigation of risk, with a view toward enhancing our efforts in these areas.

IDENTIFYING AND MANAGING RISK IS A CRITICAL PART OF WHO WE ARE

As a firm focused on and built around the principles of long-term planning, we have grown with a deep understanding of the importance of identifying and managing potential impacts to our business.

To manage these events, we maintain and test plans covering a wide range of potential incidents caused by severe weather, infectious disease, threats to data integrity and confidentiality, climate change, and other hazards.

Learn more about our business continuity planning and procedures.

The nexus for this planning and continuity leadership is our Crisis Management team. This team comprises senior managers representing key areas of the firm. This group, with input from the executive committee, assesses and directs the company’s responses to potentially disruptive incidents, seeking to ensure the safety and security of all associates and the continuity of critical business processes.

RISK IDENTIFICATION AND ANALYSIS

Emerging Compliance Risk team: Monitors the regulatory environment to identify emerging compliance risks that may affect our business

- We have identified climate risk as an emerging compliance risk and will continue to monitor the regulatory landscape for changes that may affect the firm.

Product Risk Committee: Provides guidance to business units on product and business activity risk, particularly related to proposed new or materially changed products, services or lines of business

- An important outcome of the committee’s involvement in product reviews is comprehensive communication and collaboration across the enterprise related to product risk management.

Cybersecurity risk oversight and governance

Financial information is a perpetually attractive target for criminals, and our clients expect us to protect their information and confidentiality. With oversight by our board of directors, we have designed our systems and processes in an attempt to stay ahead of threats with multiple layers of active measures and continuous scrutiny to protect our technology and physical facilities.

OUR CYBERSECURITY GOVERNANCE, STRUCTURES AND PROCESSES INCLUDE:

BOARD OVERSIGHT

The Board has appointed the Audit and Risk Committee to assist it in oversight of the Company's assessment and management of key risks, including cybersecurity risk. The ARC receives regular presentations and reports from our chief information security officer (CISO) on cybersecurity incidents, risks, trends and strategies. The ARC also reviews and approves enterprise risk tolerance levels, which include "risk appetite" statements and key risk indicators related to cyber risk. In addition, a cybersecurity presentation is delivered to the full Board at least annually, including discussion and evaluation of emerging cyber risks.

PREVENTING, DETECTING AND MITIGATING CYBERSECURITY INCIDENTS

Raymond James' cybersecurity strategy takes a defense-in-depth approach, with layered controls consisting of both commercial and proprietary technologies that are intended to prevent an adversary from conducting a successful attack. Included in that approach is active system monitoring and alerting, enabling us to promptly and proactively engage potential malicious or anomalous activity. Our Cyber Threat Center operates 24 hours, 7 days per week, and utilizes an incident response playbook – including containment and recovery procedures – based on NIST industry "best practices." The cybersecurity program is led by our CISO, who reports to the IT Chief Operating Officer, who has 20 years of cybersecurity experience and 25 years in the financial services industry.

Additionally, we conduct ongoing internal vulnerability assessments, a variety of periodic risk assessment initiatives, and also engage third parties to conduct penetration tests and adversarial simulated exercises, referred to as "red team" exercises, on a recurring basis.

BUSINESS CONTINUITY, CONTINGENCY AND RECOVERY PLANS

We also maintain business continuity plans that include identification of critical functions, third-party suppliers and personnel. Our information technology (IT) department executes several disaster recovery exercises per year in order to test our capabilities and ensure that business recovery needs can be met during a real-world event. Additionally, IT participates in annual crisis management exercises to test our operational responses and assess our preparedness for various scenarios, including cyber incidents. We also participate annually in industry-wide exercises, as well as internal tabletop exercises, to test our response capabilities.

In addition, we maintain cyber insurance coverage as an additional layer of protection.

CYBERSECURITY RISKS ARE CRITICAL TO OUR BUSINESS STRATEGY

We consider cybersecurity risks in our business strategy decisions, including in connection with our acquisition activity. In addition, we seek to continuously enhance our policies, procedures and technologies to adapt to the evolving environment.

VENDOR CYBERSECURITY RISK POLICIES

Our supplier risk management program includes policies and standards requiring that we perform cybersecurity due diligence reviews on our vendors based on the inherent risk profile of a particular supplier or service provider. We also monitor certain of our principal suppliers and service providers on an ongoing basis by conducting additional periodic reviews.

The majority ($1.1B) was in equities, with the balance in fixed income securities.
	FN-AC-410a.2	Description of approach to incorporation of environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in investment and/or wealth management processes and strategies	At Raymond James Investment Management ("RJIM"), we believe investor interests are best served by allocating capital to organizations that generate long-term value for all constituents. While each of the RJIM-affiliated boutique asset management firms is unique in its investment approach, they all share a commitment to investing for the long term. Incorporating environmental, social and governance ("ESG") considerations in investment decisions, consistent with each firm's philosophy and process, is at the heart of the RJIM approach to sustainable and responsible investing. The role of RJIM is to support affiliate efforts by making available tools and resources that can be incorporated into each affiliate's process. The difference in approaches to sustainable investing at RJIM is one of degrees. The majority of strategies across RJIM's boutique asset management firms can best be described as ESG-aware. These strategies, both equity and fixed income, are grounded in fundamental analysis and, as such, incorporate ESG factors as part of the overall analysis. Apart from the ESG-aware strategies, there are several strategies that are ESG-focused, where ESG factors are key drivers of the investment decision.
	FN-AC-410a.3	Description of proxy voting and investee engagement policies and procedures	Raymond James Investment Management established the Stewardship Committee (f.k.a Proxy Voting Committee) composed of representatives from the affiliate investment teams. This body reviews and approves proxy voting guidelines and discusses proxy issues as they arise. RJIM and its affiliates work with an independent proxy service to ensure proxies are voted in a timely manner and in the best interest of our clients. In general, RJIM's affiliates support shareholder resolutions that improve transparency, support diversity, protect the environment, uphold human rights, and promote sound governance and responsible business practices. While each of RJIM's boutique asset management firms has its own approach to corporate engagement, the Stewardship Committee developed a framework to help guide those efforts. Corporate engagement can take many forms, including calls, letters and/or emails with company management. Investment teams can engage with portfolio companies on issues of concern, either directly or as part of a pooled engagement effort with a third-party service provider. Regardless of the method used, engagement is an important means to help effect positive change.

Governance	Describe the board's oversight of climate-related risks and opportunities.	The Corporate Governance and ESG (CG & ESG) Committee of the Board of Directors is responsible for coordinating oversight of the firm's enterprise-level environment, social and governance efforts. The Board of Directors Audit and Risk Committee (ARC) oversees climate-related risks as part of its oversight of the company's risk governance structure, key risks and risk tolerances. Both committees report up to the full board of directors. Please refer to the Proxy Statement for further details on the board committee's responsibilities.
	Describe management's role in assessing and managing climate-related risks and opportunities.	Management's ESG Committee (ESGC) is a cross-functional group that reports to the Raymond James Financial (RJF) Board of Directors through its CG & ESG Committee and provides enterprise level oversight in achieving RJF's ESG strategy and goals. In addition, the Enterprise Risk Management Committee (ERMC) provides oversight of RJF's enterprise risk management (ERM) program and submits quarterly ERM reports to the RJF ARC.
Strategy	Describe the climate-related risks and opportunities the organization has identified over the short-, medium- and long-term. GOVERNANCE

The Board and management both play important roles in the oversight of climate-related opportunities and risks.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The board of directors delegates aspects of its climate-risk oversight responsibilities to the Corporate Governance and ESG (CG & ESG) Committee and the Audit & Risk Committee (ARC).

CG & ESG Committee

The CG & ESG Committee, established in early 2022, coordinates oversight of the firm's enterprise-level ESG efforts. The committee receives a quarterly update, at minimum, on the firm's ESG program, including updates on strategy, voluntary reporting efforts and upcoming regulatory requirements. In addition, the CG & ESG Committee is responsible for reviewing and overseeing Raymond James' strategies, policies and programs with respect to environmental matters and stakeholder engagement efforts, and for reviewing and discussing with senior management the content of Raymond James' annual corporate responsibility report and other significant communications or disclosures regarding ESG matters.

A full list of the committee's responsibilities can be found in the charter.

ARC

The ARC assists the Board in monitoring (1) the integrity of the company's financial reporting, (2) the independent accountants' qualifications, independence and performance, (3) the company's systems of internal controls, (4) the performance of the company's Internal Audit department, (5) the company's risk governance structure, and (6) the company's compliance risk management framework and compliance with legal and regulatory requirements. The committee also provides oversight of Raymond James' ESG financial policies and disclosures.

A full list of the committee's responsibilities can be found in the charter.

MANAGEMENT

ESG activities and climate risk are primarily overseen by the ESG Committee (ESGC) and the Enterprise Risk Management Committee (ERMC). Members of the Risk organization are included on the ESGC to provide insight into climate-related risk.

Additional details on the responsibilities for each committee are detailed below:

ESGC

The ESGC was established in May 2022 to provide enterprise level oversight in achieving RJF's ESG strategy and goals. The ESGC, comprising of a cross-functional group of senior management, meets quarterly to discuss program strategy and progress of various initiatives.

The ESGC reports to the CG & ESG Committee of the RJF Board of Directors.

The ESGC's responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Propose and oversee the company's ESG strategy
- Recommend appropriate ESG goals and track progress, including ESG metrics
- Review adherence to selected ESG frameworks
- Assign business unit responsibility for completeness and accuracy of information provided and disclosed in various components of the ESG program
- Oversee the ESG reporting and disclosure strategy
- Update the RJF Board and Executive Committee on current and emerging ESG matters
- Advise the company on shareholder proposals relating to ESG

- Prioritize ESG opportunities based on potential impact and stakeholder expectations
- Monitor stakeholder ESG sentiment, including proxy voter expectations and client demand for products / solutions
- Monitor ESG ratings assigned by external parties for their accuracy
- Ensure an appropriate communication strategy for ESG activities, both internal and external
- Escalate any resource concerns impacting the ability to achieve the defined ESG strategy

ERMC

The purpose of the ERMC is to provide oversight in achieving RJF's ERM mission: to maximize RJF's ability to achieve its business objectives by creating a comprehensive approach to anticipate, identify, prioritize, and manage material risks to business objectives. As part of this mission, the ERMC reviews key risks, regulatory matters, ensure issues are addressed within the committed timeline, and oversees the enterprise policy framework, including providing formal review and approval of enterprise policies.

The ERMC oversees the firm's formal ERM program, which assesses and reviews aggregate risks across the company.

Consideration of climate risk is incorporated as a risk driver within the ERM process as part of our business continuity planning and is indirectly covered by strategic risk and reputational risk. However, this will continue to be enhanced in future years to cover additional areas of climate risk.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Risks are an inherent part of our business and activities. Management of risk, including the impacts of climate change on our business, is critical to our fiscal soundness and profitability. Our risk management processes are multifaceted and require communication, judgement and knowledge of financial products and markets. We have a formal ERM program to assess and review aggregate risks across the firm.

THE ERM PROGRAM IS SUPPORTED BY THE THREE LINES OF RISK MANAGEMENT.

The principal risks related to our business activities are market, credit, liquidity, operational, model and compliance. Our three-line approach to risk management creates appropriate redundancy and mutual accountability.

First line: Our businesses

The first line includes associates who provide solutions or services to meet the needs of clients, such as financial advisors, sales and trading associates, and associates in Operations and Technology. Associates in the first line make sure reasonable controls exist to ensure our business units comply with applicable laws, rules, standards and internal policies. The Supervision function is a critical element of the first line, which helps identify and manage risk through functions such as advisor and client activity reviews, branch oversight and solutions oversight.

Second line: Our Risk Management Functions

The second line – made up of Compliance, Anti-Money Laundering and Risk Management – supports client-facing businesses and other first line functions by providing guidance, advice, and oversight to help identify and address risks. Some areas, including Human Resources and Finance, play a hybrid role between first-line duties of identifying and escalating potential risks, and second-line duties such as implementing controls and providing advice designed to protect against risk.

Third line: Internal Audit

The third line – Internal Audit – operates as an independent, objective assurance and consulting area that evaluates risk management, control and governance processes to continuously improve their reliability and effectiveness.

The Legal department provides legal advice and guidance to help manage risks and interprets laws and regulations that may be applicable to the firm.

RISK IDENTIFICATION, ASSESSMENT AND MANAGEMENT

Executive management, in conjunction with the divisions, has identified the following risks that face the enterprise and developed enterprise risk definitions to help analyze, report, and consolidate risks on a comparable basis:

- Credit Risk
- Regulatory & Litigation Risk
- Market Risk
- Liquidity & Capital Risk
- Operational Risk

Strategic risk and reputational risk should be considered across all enterprise risk categories.

Through our ERM process, the firm evaluates potential risks, and their impact, via the RCSA program. The RCSA program is designed to provide guidance for the business to properly assess the risk and control environment using the risk taxonomy, risk rating scales, supplemental risk data and subject matter experts. The risks identified through the RCSA process inform segment risk ratings, which are reported quarterly to the RJF Board and the ERM. Operational risk is also reported quarterly to the RJF Operational Risk Management Committee (RJF ORMC).

Climate risk is incorporated into operational risk as part of operational resiliency. The Business Continuity Planning team regularly conducts physical risk assessments for our main U.S. corporate offices to analyze the potential for disruptions caused by severe weather. Operational locations are geographically dispersed to diminish risks posed by local and regional disruptions.

Additionally, in 2022 Raymond James engaged with an external consultant to develop a plan to identify and assess potential climate-related risks in other areas of the enterprise.

METRICS AND TARGETS

Raymond James measures, monitors, and reports metrics associated with our operations.

Raymond James has established business continuity risk appetite metrics that are monitored quarterly and reported to the ARC. These metrics help manage risk resulting from potential crisis situations, which could include climate-related events, such as hurricanes.

In addition, we have taken a number of steps in the past year to improve operational performance of our facilities. See p. 26-29 in the Sustainability section of this report for additional information on these activities, including associated metrics.

We also measure our Scope 1 and Scope 2 GHG emissions. Our Scope 1 emissions are from natural gas, fleet vehicles, diesel fuel, and refrigerant. Our Scope 2 emissions are calculated using both location-based and market-based approaches. While both methods of calculating Scope 2 emissions are based on the electricity that Raymond James purchases, the location-based approach uses the average emissions intensity of the electrical grid where electricity is produced and consumed. The market-based approach is calculated using residual mix emissions factors that account for all untracked and unclaimed energy on an electrical grid. We obtained third-party verification of our 2021 Scope 1 and Scope 2 emissions; the verification statement is available here.
